Ans: I have learned quite a lot of things this week I have learned about GitHub and its basics After this week I am practicing GitHub myself as it is important. And also, I am starting to work on my people skills so that I can establish positive relationships. I'm being a little more personal because I want to develop a positive work personality. I learned importance to work in group and to listen others, which will help me to build influence in my teammate and other partner

- Write a SMART goal for next week?

Ans: For the coming week, I've listed a few Smart goals. To improve my skills, I'll enroll in a LinkedIn learning course. In order to save money for an emergency, I won't be going to shopping and eating out for a week. To make my mind active and healthy I'll go to bed early, get up early, and drink a lot of water. I'll spend 10 minutes each day in meditation and avoid social media. I'll complete my assignments ahead of schedule. Also, I will meet my professors during college hours to improve my way to studying.

- What would you do differently next week?

Ans: from this coming week I have decided to plan things differently. From onward I will focus on the action rather than argument. I will also reflect and try to improve from past experiences. I will be more openminded and will listen to my teammate also, I will cooperate with my teammate. I will try to build a strong relationship with my teammate as I want to win their trust so that I could lead my team to a project, for which I will need a good hearing skill, which I will enhance it in a coming week.

- How would you explain this week's topics to a person not in this class?

Ans: For someone who missed this class, I would explain him about the GitHub and its important in our upcoming classes not only that it will also help us in our career. not only that the most important part is to have influence over other people, I will teach him about the ways to influence people around so that we can gain their trust. Not only that I will convey information that we always should keep our ears open to other, we have to listen other problem in order to solve it.
